Gaping generation gap

One of the most widely revered and iconic leaders in world history, Sir Winston Churchill (1874-1965) believed that a fanatic is one who can't change his mind. The legendary British statesman has been quoted as saying "To improve is to change, so to be perfect is to change often". The land has hosted for long in the past several centuries generations of its people known to loath changing its customs, beliefs, food habits, lifestyle, and last but not the least, attiring themselves in different regions across the land. While some sections of the country's masses are still steadfastly holding on to their time-honoured way of living, unfazed by the disdainful outlook and behaviour of present generation, particularly the youth in urban space, the unchanging elderly are finding it hard, nay impossible, to grin and bear it even as they have to share the living space with jean-clad, pizza guzzling, noisily partying youth with boundless energy. It is another matter that the previous generation has no option but to defray the cost of youth's pastime.

The factors behind the yawning gap on various counts between successive generations serve to make an interesting study that may help to zero in on the shape of future society. Breakdown of the joint family culture, exposure to Western ways of life, influence of cinema as well as the small screen, advancing technology-impacting society, demographic distress, and not to forget, the leadership of people of straw in the country make major list of such factors.

Scholars, delivering discourses drawing heavily from the land does ancient scriptures for their presentations before their captive audiences comprise mostly women in their middle age and men with their senior-citizen-identity, usually in the premises of places of worship, don't hold any attraction for the urban youth, including girls in good measure. The compulsions of attiring in traditional style for such spiritual events, apart from the more exciting times at their favourite joints in the evenings cannot ensure the youth to join their ageing parents and grandparents to the venues of scholarly discourses any more. Further, given the rising presence of female species in virtually all male-dominated pursuits, it is naive to visualise the females as the weaker sex.

As the inter-generation gap is gaping in this modern age, a Haryana Panchayat has reportedly banned jeans and mobiles for women in its administrative territory. The teenage girls have shot back saying" If we have to wear Salwar suits, then the boys must wear Kurt-pyjama". The girls have raised the point of why the boys be allowed to wear jeans? This has left the Panchayat top brass red faced.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Top fund managers who attended a recent Mohan Bhagwat (chief of the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh) event faced an unusual challenge. The topic of discussion was the Indian economy and its long-term prospects and all the speakers at the event decided to speak in Hindi. Many attendees with limited grasp of the language struggled to understand the speeches. Some of them were also seen fervently searching for the terms on their iPads and phones as the speakers held forth in Hindi. "We didn't just get a new perspective about the economy from the event but also got to learn some new Hindi terms," said a fund manager. —Business Standard

UK students can't read Analog Clocks!

London: A head-teachers' union in the UK recently reported that youths have become so accustomed to using digital devices that they are having trouble correctly reading time on analog clocks, forcing schools to replace them.

According to Malcolm Trobe, Deputy General Secretary at the Association of School and College Leaders, children and young teens aren't as good at reading an old-fashioned clock as previous ones. Because they are constantly exposed to time in digital format, so seeing the time displayed in analog format in examination halls can be a cause of unnecessary stress for children. For this reason, some schools are removing analog clocks and replacing them with digital ones. "The current generation aren't as good at reading the traditional clock face as older generations," Trobe, a former Headmaster, said.

Impersonating as doctor !

New Delhi: A 19-year-old man with no medical training managed to fool the staff at one of the most prestigious medical institutions in India into thinking that he was a doctor wearing a face mask and stethoscope.

No one knows exactly why Adnan Khurram decided to impersonate a junior resident at the All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS) in Delhi, but he somehow managed to do it for five months. Despite lacking any medical training or qualifications, and not showing up on the institutes's payroll, the 19-year-old had become quite involved in hospital politics, participated in various events there and even posed as Dr. Adnan Khurram on social site. Harjit Singh, President of Resident Doctor's Association, told the newspaper that "we found out that he had made different claims to different doctors as he was a junior resident to senior doctors and while to junior resident doctors, he would introduce himself as an undergraduate medical student."The hospital eventually notified the Police about Adnan Khurram and he was arrested last week after coming to AIIMS to take part in a staff marathon. He has been charged with impersonation and forgery.

Plea to improve Shatabdi Express

Sir,

After the electrification was completed, I had recently visited the Railway Station to drop my relative boarding Shatabdi Express. But I was unhappy to see the train in a state of non-standardised condition, even though it is ISO 9001-2000 certified train.

I request the Railway authorities to look into it and provide a solution to these problems:

1. Long delay in opening the doors of the train: The maintenance team of the train create a long delay in opening the doors of the train due to maintenance works. The doors are opened when it is only five minutes for departure. It is learnt that this delay occurs only at Mysuru Station but not at Chennai, where the doors are opened half-an-hour before departure from that end.

2. Installation of one default generator coach: Premium trains like Shatabdi and Rajdhani Express have two operating generator, luggage and break coaches (EOGs) in order to maintain stable current across the A/C coaches of the train. But this Shatabdi Express had only one EOG under operation and the other was standalone due to some default. Due to this, one EOG was maintaining electricity needs for all 14 coaches. Due to this, the lights inside the coaches were quite dull.

3. Use and mixing of some old LHB cosmopolitan coaches in the train: We all know that at present Mysuru is a city having a population of 1.014 million. But even nowadays I could see that some old (about 9 years) shiny silver LHB coaches (cosmopolitan type) were mixed along with new uniform blue LHB coaches. I request the Railways to replace these old coaches with the new uniform blue coloured ones so as to maintain the uniformity and to give a standard look. Sometimes yellow colour EOG rake of double decker trains are attached to it.

4. Increase speed of the train and shifting of modern Anubhuti coach to the middle: Recently the electrified line was opened and slowly the clans of Chittaranjan (the e-locos) are invading Mysuru but still there is no improvement in the speed of Shatabdi Express. It still runs at a speed of 65kmph between Mysuru and Bengaluru. I request the authorities to increase the speed of the train at least between 110-120kmph to drastically reduce the travel time between the two cities.

I request the Railways to take these issues seriously because Mysuru Shatabdi is not an ordinary train anymore. It is one of the first batch of five new Shatabdi Express trains introduced in the country and the first Shatabdi in Southern India. By the next year the train would also celebrate 25 years of its operation [first service in 1994].

Hence, as a concerned citizen, I urge the Railways to provide special attention to the train and make it look modern and uniform as ever.

BJP wants Yeddy's votes... but not Yeddy ?

The man who brought the first and the only BJP Government to power in South India, B.S. Yeddyurappa, is being undermined by his own party... again.

The BJP High Command, from the time Yeddyurappa became the face of the Party in Karnataka, has been developing 'Yeddy phobia' and it continues...

They first neutralised Yeddyurappa with the Lokayukta report when in 2011, the BJP High Command forced Yeddyurappa to resign as Chief Minister (CM) for simply being named in a Lokayukta report. The reason given was that the BJP High Command at that time wanted to have the moral authority to attack UPA-II on corruption.

But the BJP at the Centre shockingly made a weak call for the resignation of the then Delhi CM Sheila Dikshit, who was named in the Shunglu report on CWG scam. How can the BJP force its own CM to resign based on a report and not apply the same rule on a senior opposition party leader?!

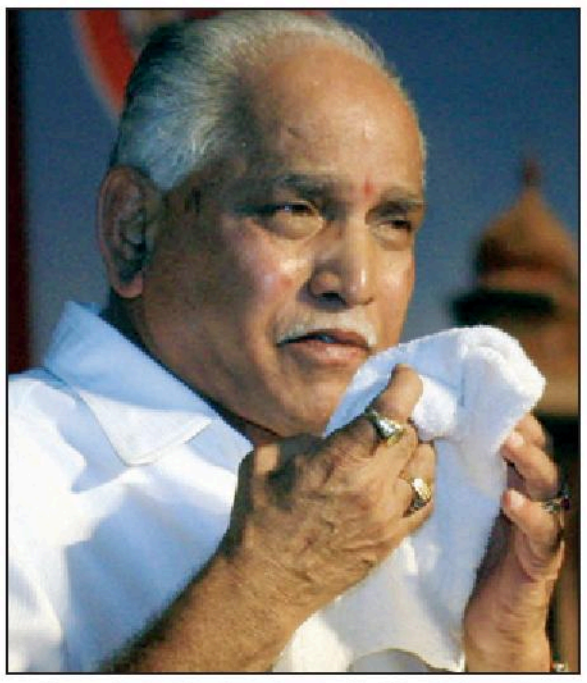
So, back then itself it was clear that the BJP High Command was uneasy with Yeddyurappa's popularity and wanted to enfeeble him. And Yeddyurappa only made it too easy with his erratic decisions and emotional breakdowns.

Then after the HC cleared his name, the High Command refused to reinstate him as CM as promised by the then Party President Nitin Gadkari. In their indecision, they made Yeddyurappa seem like a greedy old man, who first said he wanted to be reinstated as the CM, then said he would not go to Delhi, then went to Delhi from where he was sent back empty-handed, then told they'll make him the State President, which they finally did after a while.

Is this how you treat a leader who has worked for your party relentlessly and brought it to power? No, Amit Shah did not build BJP in Karnataka, Yeddyurappa did. But now the North Indian-dominated BJP top leadership wants to enjoy the benefits of Yeddyurappa's sweat by calling the shots.

Yes, BJP has State leaders but leaders like C.T. Ravi, D.V. Sadananda Gowda, R. Ashok, K.S. Eshwarappa and Jagadish Shettar are not vote-getters. And leaders like Ananth Kumar are not even that — they are Delhi operators.

So why does BJP have 'Yeddy phobia'? Is it because they don't want to end up like Congress where a CM will start dictating terms to the High Command? Like in the case of Siddharamaiah and late CM of Andhra Pradesh Y.S. Rajasekhara Reddy? In a way, BJP too has become like old Congress where for everything one has to consult the Big Man from Gujarat sitting in Delhi?



Also where is the Kannada pride that most Kannadigas speak of when all our State's political decisions are made by an MP from Gujarat?

Yes, Yeddyurappa asked for a ticket for his son B.Y. Vijayendra. So what? And why not? It was a good match up to pit an ex-CM's son against the sitting CM's son. And Vijayendra's chances were good.

If BJP is trying to stick to 'no tickets for family policy' then how come Janardhana Reddy's family and associates got seven tickets? Also the way Vijayendra's candidature was rejected was quite insulting. Amit Shah had visited Karnataka while Vijayendra was campaigning in Varuna. He said nothing. So many assumed he had accepted Vijayendra's candidature, only to reject him on the day of filing his nomination. By doing this, has BJP shown other State BJP leaders and its probable allies that Yeddy does not have any clout in the Party?

The way BJP has treated Yeddyurappa is not just an insult to the senior leader but also an insult to the Veerashaiva-Lingayat community whose only Pan-Karnataka leader today is Yeddyurappa.

No wonder already WhatsApp messages are being passed around amongst Lingayat voters in Varuna that they should teach BJP a lesson and vote for NOTA.

Could it be that the CM seat and the Lingayat community's jathaka do not match? History shows that Lingayat CMs are jinxed to never have a peaceful and complete CM term. Every one of the eight Lingayat CMs that Karnataka has had have never completed their full tenure nor have they had a smooth run.

The first Lingayat CM S. Nijalingappa had a conflict with Prime Minister Indira Gandhi which forced him out of office.

Next came the incomplete tenures of B.D. Jatti and S.R. Kanti. After them, it was Veerendra Patil, who clashed with the then Congress President Rajiv Gandhi and so was ousted.

Soon S.R. Bommai followed but within months he was out. Then in 1996 came J.H. Patel, who couldn't keep his flock together and he too was gone.

Twelve years later, in 2008, came B.S. Yeddyurappa heralding BJP's first government in Karnataka and we all know how that ended. The last Lingayat CM was Jagadish Shettar, a substitute CM, whose term ended with just 304 days in office.

Now Yeddy is getting ready yet again but it may be the same jinx, considering he might become CM only with the support of JD(S) that has already pulled the rug from under his feet once.

But if the BJP is able to form a government and Amit Shah takes a call and decides to make Santoshji or Ananth Kumar as CM citing Yeddy's age, corruption issues or by propping up old cases, then history will repeat itself.

Some may recall, in 1994 when rumours spread that Ramakrishna Hegde was trying to hijack the CM's post from H.D. Deve Gowda, there was violence in front of Vidhana Soudha where slippers were hurled at Ramakrishna Hegde.

Yeddyurappa's biggest disadvantage is that he has no one in the High Command to put in a good word. It is an open secret that Ananth Kumar, being part of the High Command, has tried various tricks to get the coveted CM's chair and by the looks of it, the tricks still continue.

Now, the BJP should remember that they may have sown the seed of BJP in Karnataka with Bangarappa but it bloomed under Yeddyurappa. And if the lotus has to bloom again, they must stop belittling Yeddyurappa. Else they will forever be a lotus propped up with the support of a stake called JD(S), a stake that could slip or snap anytime like it happened in 2007.

An election is a formal decision-making process by which a population chooses an individual to hold public office. Elections reflect the basic principle of democracy – Of the people, by the people and for the people. This Weekend Star Supplement presents candidates of three major political parties — Congress, JD(S) and the BJP — and other main contenders from four constituencies that come within Mysuru city limits.

The future of candidates will be sealed in Electronic Voting Machines (EVM) on May 12, the voting day where the voters will exercise their franchise from 7 am to 6 pm. The winning candidate will emerge on May 15.

Mysuru district has eleven Assembly constituencies - Chamaraja, Krishnaraja, Narasimharaja, Chamundeshwari, Varuna, Nanjangud, T. Narsipur, H.D. Kote, Hunsur, K.R. Nagar and Periyapatna.

FOCUS KARNATAKA

As soon as the Karnataka election dates were announced, the political battle shifted from the East (three North-Eastern States went to the polls in February) and North (by-polls were held in Uttar Pradesh and Bihar in March) to the South. But it is not just the shift in geography which makes the battle for the southern State important. It is a battle which will, in many ways, determine the political balance of power in 2019.

WHY A WIN MATTERS FOR CONGRESS

For the Congress, the Grand Old Party, this is an existential battle. The party has been reduced to power in only three States — Punjab, Mizoram and Karnataka. A loss could erode Congress President Rahul Gandhi's credibility. A win will boost the party morale and energise the entire opposition as it will halt the expansion of the BJP. Maintaining a stronghold in Karnataka is crucial to the Congress's resurgence as the main anti-BJP force for the 2019 Lok Sabha polls.

WHY VICTORY MATTERS FOR BJP

For the BJP, Karnataka matters because it is central to the party's 'Congress-Mukt Bharat' political project. A win in Karnataka will reverse the reverses the party has suffered in the form of a string of by-poll losses in Uttar Pradesh, Bihar, MP and Rajasthan and will reinforce BJP's dominance. Karnataka will be the gateway for the BJP to conquer the other Southern States where the party is literally non-existent.

WHY IS TRIUMPH CRUCIAL FOR JD(S)

The elections are also crucial for the JD(S) that is hoping to be a King, rather than a king-maker this time though opinion polls that have come out so far have said that the JD(S) will be a king-maker. Over the years, former PM and JD(S) Supremo H.D. Deve Gowda has established a secular image for himself. He is trying to win big in this election on the back of his secular credentials. The party hopes to repeat a 1994 kind of victory where it won 113 out of 224 seats.

Electronic Voting Machine

When was EVMs first used?

Electronic Voting Machines (EVM) were conceptualised in 1977 by the Election Commission of India and the first EVM model was manufactured in 1979. It was demonstrated before political parties in 1998. EVMs were first used in the elections that were held in Kerala in May 1982. In 2004, EVMs were used in all the 543 Lok Sabha Constituencies.

Why do we need an EVM over simple ballot paper?

EVMs have had several advantages over ballot paper - the foremost being the elimination of invalid votes. EVMs reduce electoral fraud and re-polling due to electoral rigging, and made elections a safe affair, thereby enhancing voter turnout.

Can the EVMs be rigged or tampered with?

Tampering an EVM through the hardware port or through a Wi-Fi connection is not possible as there is no frequency receiver or wireless decoder in the EVM machine.

What if the chip inside the EVM is replaced?

In the latest version (M3) machines, this is technologically ruled out as the machines shut down in the event of tampering.

Who manufactures EVMs?

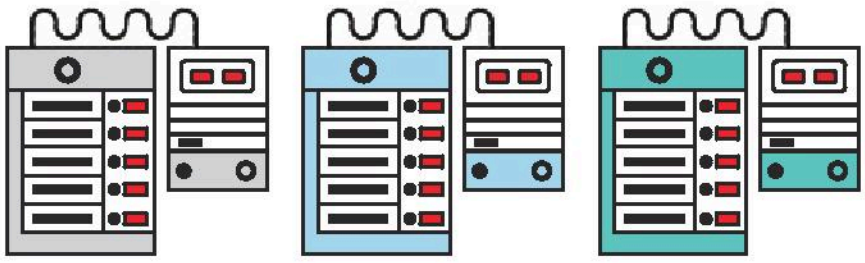
The EVMs are produced indigenously by two Public Sector Units — Bharat Electronics Ltd. and Electronics Corporation of India Ltd. A few select engineers have access to the source code which is kept under a controlled environment. Engineers don't have any clue about the constituency-wise deployment of the machines.

Can the machines be manipulated?

EVMs are randomly assigned to polling booths across States and candidates are alphabetically listed on ballot sheets (inserted onto the EVM's ballot unit). It is assumed that there is some mechanism present in the EVM already that will lead to votes being transferred to a particular party. This is literally impossible as there is no prior way in which the order of the candidate can be known besides the location where the EVMs will be used.

Evolution of EVMs

New security features and in-built mechanisms have been incorporated



M1 Model
Manufactured: 1989-2006.
Last used: 2014 general elections. Not compatible with VVPAT.

M2 Model
Manufactured: 2006-2012. Machines are in use now. Has encryption and time-stamping of key pressed.

M3 Model
Manufactured: 2013 onwards. In use now, nine lakh more will replace older models by end of 2018. Stops functioning if tampered with and has self-diagnostics.

ADDITIONAL SECURITY

- EVM consists of two units: Control Unit (CU) kept with the Presiding Officer of a polling booth and Ballot Unit (BU) used by the voters to press the button to vote.
- Control Units accept only encrypted and dynamically coded data from Ballot Units
- No wireless device can communicate or tamper with the device as there is no receiver or decoder
- A real time clock has been added to the new version of BUs to record every key-pressing 13,95,306 BUs and 9,30,716 CUs are to be procured till 2019, the year India will witness the next general election.

Functions of VVPAT

- Voter Verifiable Paper Audit Trail (VVPAT) unit is a printer-like machine attached to EVMs
- It allows voters to verify that their vote has been cast correctly
- Once a voter presses the button of his choice in the EVM, a printed paper appears with the name of the candidate and the poll symbol so that the voter can verify it for about 6 seconds
- After the voter views the receipt, it goes inside a container linked to the EVM, which can be accessed only by the polling officers
- These printed slips can be accessed and verified by the polling officers in case the EVM develops a snag during the counting process
- The printed material that are secured in a box can also be used to verify if there is any rigging or electoral malpractice
- The printout is then deposited in a box and can be used to resolve any dispute regarding the election. Bharat Electronics Limited and Electronics Corporation of India Limited have built the VVPAT system
- The voter data obtained from the VVPAT machines can be stored for over five years

Checks and balances in EVM

01 FUNCTIONAL CHECK

The machines are cleaned and earlier results are cleared. Switches, buttons, cables and latches are inspected for damage.

02 TRIAL RUN

A mock poll is conducted. One vote is cast against each of the 16 candidate buttons. If Voter Verifiable Paper Audit Trial (VVPATs) machines are used, six votes are polled for every candidate button. Results are verified

03 RANDOM CHECK

Another mock poll is conducted on 5% of the total number of EVMs to be used for a poll. About 1,000 votes are polled and the result printouts are shared with representatives of various political parties.

04 RANDOMISATION

Two rounds of randomisation take place. During the first, EVMs are allocated at random to a constituency. In the second round, they are randomised and allocated to a polling booth.

05 CANDIDATE LISTING

The candidate list with symbol, name and party of the candidate is inserted into the ballot paper screen and the ballot unit is closed

06 CONNECTING DEVICES

The ballot unit is connected to the control unit. The control unit is opened and the 'candidate set' button is pressed. Then the last candidate button on the balloting unit is pressed. This indicates that the EVM will have only this many candidates.

07 DRY RUN

Before the start of the actual poll, a mock poll is conducted with at least 50 votes in the presence of candidates or their agents. The mock poll is then closed and the results are displayed

08 FINAL CHECKS

On poll day, various checks are conducted by polling agents, observers and central paramilitary forces

09 END NOTES

The poll is closed by pressing the 'close' button on the control unit. The total number of votes polled is noted. Serial numbers of the seals used are also noted

10 SAFE AND SECURE

EVMs are placed in their carrying case and sealed. The machines are transported back to the reception centres under armed escort and kept in the strong room.

Electronic Voting Machine

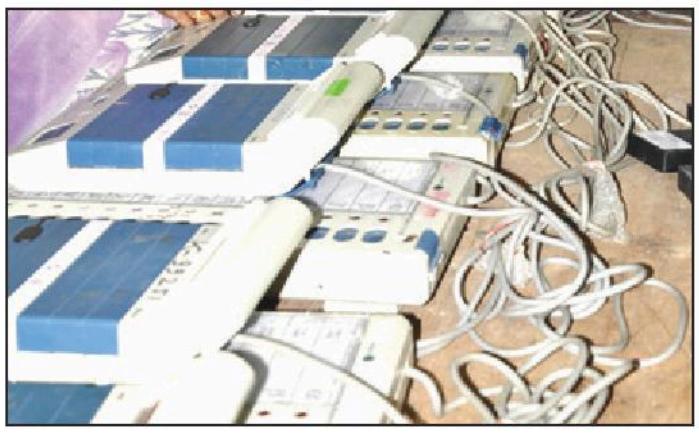
Deployment and Transportation

- EVMs are transported from factory under security measures comparable with that of RBI transporting cash to the designated places
- Machines are sent from the factory to the district headquarters directly, avoiding any stoppage or storage at the State capital
- EVMs are stored in strong rooms at the office of the District Electoral Officer
- There is a double lock system under which both the keys, one each kept with the District Electoral Officer and Additional District Electoral Officer, are required to unlock the strong room
- First level technical and physical checking is done by authorised engineers before use in front of representatives of political parties.
- Entry to the hall is restricted and cameras/mobile phones are not allowed. Defective EVMs are sent back to the factory

Life of EVM

- EVMs have a life of only 15 years
- All units manufactured till 2001 have been discarded
- Chips containing the code need to be crushed in presence of an officer of the Election Commission of India
- Control Unit, Ballot Unit, display units etc. are removed from the plastic holding and crushed



Photos of candidates to find place on EVMs

Chief Electoral Officer, Karnataka, has announced that the photograph of candidates contesting the upcoming Assembly election will be displayed next to their names on the Electronic Voting Machines (EVMs). The move, according to officials, is to avoid confusion among the voters on candidates with same names contesting the polls.

Voters in this election can see the photo of the candidates on the EVMs (ballot machine) along with their serial number, name and party symbol. Though this system has been in use elsewhere since 2016, it will be implemented for the first time in the State this year.

However, the VVPAT system that displays the symbol of the party the voter selects on a small screen will not show the photo. Only the serial number, symbol and party name will be printed on a piece of paper. One can see it on the machine for six seconds and then the slip lands in a drop box. Later, these slips are counted from random polling booths to verify the number of voters voted in a ballot machine.

High Court stays FIR against
Palace Board Dy. Director Subramanya

Mysuru, Apr.28 - The High Court has stayed the FIR filed against Mysore Palace Board Deputy Director T.S. Subramanya by the Police as an accomplice with regard to an alleged false complaint, filed by others, against Mysore Palace Security Officer, Assistant Commissioner of Police Shylendra.

Subramanya

It may be recalled that Subramanya had obtained an anticipatory bail on Apr.13 from the Second Additional Sessions Court in Mysuru, after a criminal complaint was filed against him. Later, he went in appeal to the High Court seeking to squash the FIR as the complaint against him was far from truth.

After going through the records submitted by Subramanya, the High Court Judge Arvind Kumar, passed a stay order against the FIR and posted the matter for hearing to June 4. Advocate M.S. Bhagavat appeared for Subramanya.

Details of the case: A complaint was filed by H.V. Chandregowdar, M.S. Mahadevaswamy, L. Manjunath, Kumar, Imran Khan and Niyamtulla against Palace Board ACP Shylendra with the Election Officer that Shylendra was misusing his official vehicle to transport money of a political leader who is also a candidate in the Assembly election. A copy of the complaint was also submitted to Palace Board Deputy Director T.S. Subramanya.

In turn, Subramanya had passed on the complaint to the Chief Executive Officer of the Palace Board who is also the Deputy Commissioner. In the light of this complaint Probationary Assistant Commissioner Suraj had conducted an enquiry. Meanwhile, one of the complainants M.S. Mahadevaswamy had disappeared on Apr.9. Following this a complaint was filed with the Deputy Commissioner and also the Police Commissioner against ACP Shylendra by the brother of Mahadevaswamy alleging that the ACP was involved in his brother's disappearance.

It was then learnt that the Police had taken Mahadevaswamy into custody for interrogation. In his statement he told the Police that Palace Board Deputy Director Subramanya and himself (Mahadevaswamy) had met at Ramya Hotel near the Fire Brigade in Saraswathipuram at 5.30 pm on Mar.28 and hatched a conspiracy to file a false complaint against ACP Shylendra. Based on this statement, the Police registered a criminal case against Subramanya under Cr PC (Criminal Procedure Code) Sections 182, 120 B, 420, 465, 468 and 469.

Subramanya who went in appeal against this FIR to the High Court had produced evidence that on Mar.28 at 5.30 pm, he was in his office in the Mysore Palace Board between 4.30 pm and 6.59 pm at a meeting with the Board's Electricity Department Engineers, Bengaluru's Data Com and Rittal Company experts. Besides by way of proof he had produced the video footage from the CCTV cameras installed in his office to the Court.

Subramanya had submitted to the Court that during Dasara, ACP Shylendra had got the Space Designers to paint the Dasara elephants and got T-shirts to the Police personnel without bringing it to the notice of the Palace Board and added to this he had got the barricades carrying advertisements painted from private companies, he stated.

"I had issued a notice to Shylendra and to the private companies in this regard. This issue was also brought to the notice of the higher authorities in the Police Department. In order to deflect the issue of the irregularities committed by the Police, a false complaint was lodged against me," Subramanya stated in his appeal to the court.

As he had produced all the evidence, the High Court stayed the FIR filed against him and posted the case to June 4, 2018.

CAUVERY DISPUTE
Centre seeks two-weeks to draft 'scheme'

New Delhi, Apr.28- The Central Government yesterday mentioned that it has moved an application in the Supreme Court for a two-week extension of time to frame a Cauvery water sharing 'scheme.'

On Apr. 9, a three-Judge Bench led by Chief Justice of India (CJI) Dipak Misra ordered the Centre to frame a scheme as per its Feb.16 judgment in the Cauvery dispute.

It categorically said that the Centre, by drafting a scheme by May 3, should prove its bona fide intention to resolve the 200-year-old inter-State water dispute, starting from between the erstwhile Madras Presidency and Kingdom of Mysore and now Tamil Nadu and Karnataka.

"Our order stands," the CJI curtly told the Centre's Counsel.

He then said the application would be taken up on May 3, as scheduled. Karnataka faces Assembly elections on May 12.

On Apr.9, the Court voiced suspicion about the Centre's resolve to play its crucial part in ending the conflict between the two States. A Feb.16 order of the Court directed the Centre to frame a scheme by March 29. Yet, on the eve of the deadline, the Union Government moved court for another three months time to frame a scheme. This would have taken it well past the Karnataka Assembly polls.

Police and also Private Security to guard Palace

Mysuru, Apr.28 (NNN)-The Security inside the Mysore Palace which was manned by the Police Department will be whittled down and private security will be brought in to man the outside premises of the Palace.

This decision was taken at a meeting of the State Chief Secretary, Law Secretary, Finance Secretary and PWD Secretary held in Bengaluru.

Speaking to Star of Mysore this morning, Mysore Palace Board Deputy Director T.S. Subramanya said, "There are several Police Personnel who have been in charge of the security inside the Mysore Palace for more than 15 years and there appears to be a nexus between them, wherein the tourists are fleeced. Hence, I had suggested to the Palace Board to have a security along the lines followed in the Mysuru Zoo where there is a private security also manning the premises."

The decision of the Board to have a separate private security will be implemented once the Model Code of Conduct in force due to election is lifted. The strength of the Police security inside the Palace will also be brought down, he said.

JD(S) likely to release manifesto next week

Bengaluru, Apr.28 (KMS& US)- The manifesto of JD(S) in the context of State Assembly election is said to be ready and likely to be released in a week.

The manifesto is believed to focus mainly on farmers, poor people and rural development. Most of the salient points in the manifesto have already been disclosed by JD(S) State President H.D. Kumaraswamy during public meetings. The manifesto also is said to throw light on schemes and projects to be taken up by JD(S) once voted to power.

Conman posing as Police Commissioner's PA attempts to extort money from Cop

Mysuru, Apr.28 (KS)- An incident of a conman calling a Police Inspector over the phone and trying to extort money by posing as the PA of City Police Commissioner and later backtracking after the Inspector became alert, has been reported in city.

On Thursday, Jayalakshmipuram Inspector B.G. Prakash, who was deputed at Udayagiri, following the recent riots there, received a call in the morning and the person on the other end, who introduced himself as the PA of the Police Commissioner told the Inspector that he would be sending a visually challenged person to him and asked Inspector to give the visually challenged person Rs.2,000 as per the Police Commissioner's order.

When Prakash asked the person speaking to him to introduce himself, the caller who reportedly identified himself as Prajwal, also told the Inspector that the Police Commissioner had instructed all Inspectors to give Rs.2,000 each to the visually challenged person.

Smelling something fishy, Inspector Prakash asked the caller to call from the landline at the Commissioner's office. But the caller, who feared of getting caught, disconnected the call abruptly.

Meanwhile, Inspector Prakash is said to have called the Police Commissioner's office and enquired about the person by name Prajwal and about the Police Commissioner's order only to know that there was no one by the name Prajwal there and no such order was passed.

Later the Inspector lodged a complaint at Udayagiri Police Station in this regard.

Zameer Ahmed campaigns for CM at Sathagalli

Former JD(S) MLA from Chamarajpet in Bengaluru Zameer Ahmed Khan, who joined the Congress in the presence of AICC President Rahul Gandhi in Mysuru recently, is seen campaigning for Chief Minister Siddharamaiah at Sathagalli near the Outer Ring Road this morning. Shreyas Iyer steers Delhi to victory

Delhi, Apr. 28- Shreyas Iyer made his IPL captaincy debut in sensational style as he scored unbeaten 93 off just 40 deliveries and helped Delhi Daredevils (DD) register a comprehensive 55-run victory over the Kolkata Knight Riders (KKR) in Feroz Shah Kotla yesterday.

Kolkata Knight Riders won the toss and invited hosts Delhi Daredevils to bat first.

Delhi Daredevils came to bat with Gambhir missing the game, Shreyas Iyer had a big responsibility and rest of the team did not let him down as Delhi Daredevils put a massive score of 219/4. Prithvi Shaw gave a fantastic start to DD and completed his half-century. Shreyas Iyer was alongside building his inning and played a great knock, scoring 93 runs including 10 sixes.

Batting Second, KKR suffered early losses and could not find a stable partnership barring Andre Russell and Shubhman Gill's brief knock. Delhi Daredevils bowlers had a good day and they made the most of it. The run rate was jumping up and KKR could not do anything to bridge the gap. DD won the match by 60 runs and moved to seventh spot of the points table.

Shreyas Iyer was chosen as the 'Player of the Match.'

THE SCORES

DD: 219 for 4 in 20 overs (Prithvi Shaw 62, Colin Murno 33, Shreyas Iyer 93 n.o., Glen Maxwell 27) bt KKR: 164 for 9 in 20 overs (Sunil Narine 26, Shubham Gill 37, Andre Russell 44, Trent Boult 2 for 44, Glen Maxwell 2 for 22, Avesh Khan 2 for 29, Amit Mishra 2 for 23).

Top ECI officers hold review meeting at DC's office

The ECI team was led by senior IAS officer and Deputy Election Commissioner (ECI) Umesh Sinha and other officers included State Chief Electoral Officer Sanjiv Kumar, Additional Chief Electoral Officer Dr. B.R. Mamatha, Director General, Media, Election Commission of India Dhirendra Ojha and Director General, Expenditure, Election Commission of India Dilip Sharma.

The Central team arrived in city last evening after holding a review meeting in Mandya. After arriving in Mysuru, the team held a meeting with district officers from 9.30 pm to 11.30 pm and they stayed at Hotel Radisson Blu Plaza. They also visited the Mysore Palace and viewed the lighting arrangements there and appreciated the illuminated message "Voting is your Right" for voters atop Chamundi Hill.

Addressing officers from the district including Additional DC T. Yogesh, City Police Commissioner Dr. A Subramanyeswara Rao, Superintendent of Police Amit Singh and a host of other department officials and observers this morning, the ECI officers directed them to fully implement the Election Model Code of Conduct.

Addressing the team of over 20 officials who form the team of general observers and expenditure observers, ECI officers asked them to strictly implement the election guidelines regarding the political and legal context, the campaign environment, the media coverage, the level of preparation of the election management body, the voting, counting, tabulation and the complaints and appeals process.

The focus of the Election Commission is Chamundeshwari Constituency where Chief Minister Siddharamaiah is fighting an electoral battle with incumbent MLA G.T. Devegowda of the JD(S). The Commission has categorised Chamundeshwari as "Expenditure-sensitive constituency".

Election observers have been asked to report to the ECI about sending additional observers to any constituency depending on area sensitivity. The ECI has told them if need be, additional observers (senior IAS and IPS officers) can be sent based on the need.

The officers have been asked by the ECI to monitor law and order, assess the sensitivity of constituencies, and unearth duplicate voters / EPIC Cards / photos, electoral violence, booth capturing and bogus voting, threat and intimidation to voters, electoral malpractices, electoral offences, corrupt practices, use of money power, bribing of voters, surrogate expenditure, paid news, biased official machinery and inefficient election officials.

I-T sleuths raid house of Minimum Wages Commission Chairman

R. Umesh

Chamarajanagar, Apr. 28 (SS&DM)- Even as the count-down for the State Assembly Polls has begun, Income Tax (I-T) Officials this morning raided the residence of Karnataka State Minimum Wages Advisory Board Chairman R. Umesh.

R. Umesh, a class-I PWD Contractor, is a close associate of Chamarajanagar Congress MLA Puttaranga Shetty.

Following suspicion of unauthorised money transaction and transfers, a 14-member team of IT officials from Bengaluru and Mysuru raided Umesh's residence located on Court Road in the town and seized some documents. Umesh was present in the house when the raid was carried out, it is learnt.

Fish death at Kukkarahalli Lake: EC permits fishing

Mysuru, Apr.28- Even as the fishes are dying at Kukkarahalli Lake due to overpopulation, the news of the Electoral Officer allowing fishing in the lake comes as a breath of fresh air.

Deputy Commissioner and District Election Officer had in a letter to the Election Commission sought permission for Kukkarahalli Lake fish contract through a e-procurement portal for the tender process.

In a communication from the office of the Chief Electoral Officer, it has been advised to continue the existing contractor if there is a provision as the Model Code of Conduct is in place. If there is no provision in the existing contract then the authorities must get the approval from the screening committee headed by the Chief Secretary without violating the Model Code of Conduct.

At present, the Karnataka State Co-operative Fisheries Federation (KCFF) has the right for fishing but due to lack of co-operation between the University of Mysore and the Federation, fishing has been stopped in the lake for the last few months. As a result, the population and size of the fish started increasing. The University authorities claimed that since the Model Code of Conduct was in place, they could not call for fresh tenders.

According to Prof. K.M. Jayaramaiah, Non-official Member, Karnataka Tank Conservation and Development Authority, waste water from cow sheds and houses of Paduvarahalli flowing through open drains collect at shallow places at the junction of Hunsur Road and north bund of the lake. This polluted water is entering the Lake through drains located at north bund. This is killing fish by reducing the oxygen level in the lake water.

"The Kukkarahalli Lake was built in 1881. One of the main steps that needs to be taken is the desilting of the lake which was stalled by environmentalists. If the lake is desilted, which has now accumulated up to five to six feet, then the fish can move up to the north bund," he said, speaking to Star of Mysore this morning.
